Have Faith as Leaders Strive To Get Industry

LET'S CONTINUE to keep our chins up and have faith in our community as our leaders strive to attract industry into our area.

We're still in the picture for industry, although there are a couple of obstacles. I believe these will be overcome. In fact, sometimes things look so good that maybe the biggest thing we need to do is to pray up and down the line.

Besides the big push for new industry, there are reports that the brick and tile plant which burned might be rebuilt and also reports of further expansion of industry in Harrisburg. So let us keep a chin-up attitude, because better times may be in store.

I like the little story on attitude submitted to me that goes like this:

A man lived by the side of the road and sold hot dogs. He was hard of hearing and had no radio. He had trouble with his eyes and read no newspapers.

But he sold good hot dogs. He put up signs on the highway telling how good they were. He stood by the side of the road and cried: "Buy a hot dog, Mister?"

And people bought.

He increased his meat and bun orders. He bought a bigger stove to take care of his trade. He got his son home to help him.

But something happened. His son said:

"Father, haven't you heard? There's a depression on. The European situation is terrible. The domestic situation is worse."

Whereupon his father thought: "Well, my son's been to college. He keeps informed and ought to know."

So the father cut down on his meat and bun orders, took down his advertising signs and no longer bothered to stand out on the highway to sell hot dogs.

His hot dog sales fell almost overnight.

"You're right, son," the father said to the boy. "We certainly are in the middle of a depression."

'Voodoo' Jet with Atomic Rocket Now Available for U. S. Defense

ST. LOUIS — The "Voodoo" jet fighter, armed with an atomic rocket that can destroy an entire formation of enemy bombers, has become available to the defense of the North American continent.

The F101B Voodoo and its prime weapon, a rocket missile carrying an atomic bomb, were displayed Wednesday by officials of the North American Air Defense Command.

The Voodoo, a 1,200-mile-an-hour jet manufactured by McDonnell Aircraft, and the air-to-air MBI "Geni" rocket, produced by the Douglas Aircraft Co., were revealed for the first time.

The Geni, launched from the Voodoo, can wreak atomic destruction on an entire formation of enemy bombers without a direct hit, officials said.

"All the horribleness of atomic destruction can now be applied against high flying enemy bombers that they were intent on applying to those below," Col. Sydney Bruce told newsmen.

TESTIFIES—Defense Secretary Neil McElroy returns for second day before the House Armed Services subcommittee to tell whether he will assign the Army or the Air Force to take over development of anti-missile missiles. ## Abbott Returned Here to Face Charges of Burglary at Eldorado

Completes Serving One Year Term in Menard Penitentiary

Ernest H. Abbott, 49, of Madison, Ill., was brought to Saline county yesterday to face charges of breaking into the NuWay Mercantile Co. of Eldorado June 23, 1956, blowing open the safe and escaping with money and clothing.

Abbott had just completed serving a term of one year in the state prison at Menard on a Madison county charge of possession of explosives and Saline county had a warrant to pick him up when he got out.

Yesterday Deputy Sheriff Charles Donelson, accompanied by Eldorado Policeman Don Hopkins, took Austin Jones to Menard, where Jones will serve a term of from one year to 18 months for burglary, and they returned to Saline county with Abbott.

A man believed to be a companion of Abbott at Eldorado, whose last name is Eveland, remains a prisoner at Menard.

Abbott and Eveland were picked up by Madison county authorities after the NuWay safecracking and Jeff Stricklin, Saline county deputy, noticed a state bulletin which reported the arrest and items found in their auto. One was a brief case which fitted the description of one taken from the Minerva Oil Co. here. The burglars had first entered the Minerva of safes above the NuWay and had sawed a hole in the floor to enter the store below.

Sheriff William T. Barrett sent deputies to Madison county with a key to the Minerva briefcase and the key readily opened it.

Also in the possession of Abbott and Eveland were shooting wire that corresponded to wire used at the NuWay in blowing open the safe, burglar tools and nitroglycerine. They got prison terms for possession of the nitroglycerine.

Abbott, who denies the burglary, was taken before Justice of the Peace O. L. Woods on a burglary and larceny charge and upon arraignment waived preliminary hearing to await grand jury action.

Another 30 cents was taken Tuesday night from the Full Gospel Tabernacle and the invaders left muddy footprints throughout the building. They also tossed nails all over the church.

Mount Carmel police say they have no leads but they are positive that more than one person is involved.

Death Takes J. T. 'Jack' Armstrong, 85

John T. "Jack" Armstrong, 85, resident of Harrisburg, died in the Pearce hospital in Eldorado at 6:30 a. m. today. He had been in ill health for 15 years and was a retired miner having last worked at Peabody 47. He was born May 10, 1872, in Seton Delaware, England, and came to the U. S. in 1910.

The body will lie in state late today in the Gaskins funeral home in Harrisburg and funeral services will be held there at 1:30 p. m. Saturday. Rev. William Burroughs will officiate and burial will be in the Sunset Lawn cemetery.

Federal Judges Hold Hearing on Mud Guard Law

SPRINGFIELD — Assistant Atty. Gen. Richard Husted today defended Illinois' controversial "contour" mud guard law for trucks before a special three-judge hearing in Federal Court here.

Seven out-of-state trucking companies concluded their attack on the constitutionality of the law Wednesday and charged it was an unreasonable burden on interstate commerce.

The hearing was set after the truckers won a temporary injunction from Federal District Judge Charles G. Briggie here barring enforcement of the law against them.

Eight witnesses who appeared for the trucking companies sought to show the special-type mud guards required by the Illinois law have little value as a safety measure.

They also contended the guards are expensive, difficult to install and maintain and in some cases create a safety hazard by failing to permit heat generated in truck brake drums to be easily dissipated.

The Illinois law has been constantly before the courts since it was first passed in 1955.

The 1957 Legislature amended the law to exclude farm trucks and certain other trucks from the law.

The three judges hearing the case are Federal District Judge Fred O. Mercer, of the Peoria District Court, J. Earl Major, of the U. S. Court of Appeals in Chicago, and Briggie.

The seven firms which brought the suit are the Navajo Freight Lines Inc., Ringsby Truck Lines Inc., Procka Transportation Inc., Denver - Chicago Trucking Co., Inc., Watson Bros., Pacific-Intermountain Express Co., and Arkansas-Best Freight System Inc.

Lone Gunman Gets $1,000 at Mount Carmel

MT. CARMEL, Ill. — A lone gunman entered the Home Loan Finance Co. here just 20 minutes before closing time Wednesday and walked out with about $1,000.

According to Mount Carmel police, a masked man entered the building at 4:40 p. m. Wednesday, pointed a gun at Vern Grubbs, manager, and two women employees, and ordered them to lie on the floor for 15 minutes. When they had complied, he scooped up what money was readily available and walked out.

No one saw him enter the building and none saw him leave. The employees could not tell which direction he had taken after leaving, or could they describe any car he might have used.

The man was described as six feet one inch tall, about 180 pounds, dark brown hair, wearing work clothes, a blue jacket and railroad cap.

100 Laid Off at Herrin Plant

The announcement, made through the firm's Chicago office said the layoffs occurred last Friday.

PRESS CONFERENCE—At his first news conference since Oct. 30th President Eisenhower told newsmen that he thinks a reasonable amount of red ink financing would be far preferable to any increase in taxes. Here, the President answers questions during the session. (NEA Telephoto)

Name Farmers Union Delegates For Convention

Members of Saline County Farmers Union met at the city hall Tuesday night and elected Roy Gaines of Rector township, and Philip Whitlock of Raleigh township as delegates for the Farmers Union state convention to be held at St. Nicholas hotel in Springfield on Feb. 5 and 6.

Lawrence Mahoney, Rector township, and Lowden Perkins Independence township, were elected as alternates. John McFarland, president of Saline County Farmers Union, will also attend this convention as representative of the local union at the Springfield meeting. A president and other officers will be elected for one year. Also a program will be decided upon for action during the year.

John Adams, a representative of the Insurance department of the Union, will attend this meeting. Some of the other members present stated they will be at the meeting the first day.

The state meeting is for all members and any member wishing to do so may attend. The educational value of the talks and discussion certainly will make this trip worthwhile, members were advised. The Farmers Union recently has established its office and headquarters in Pankeyville. Members and other interested persons are invited to visit the offices.

Trudy Jo Baker, 18, Goes On Trial For Murder; Husband Sentenced

SALEM, Ill. — Attorneys for murder defendant Trudy Jo Baker, 18, described her today as a former prostitute who was "afraid and dominated by her husband."

Trudy Jo went on trial today in Marion County Circuit Court here for her part in the killing of Marine Pvt. Larry M. Kirk, 21 Winslow, Ind., in December, 1956.

Her husband, Robert Baker, 27, Wormleysburg, Pa., was sentenced to 99 years in prison Wednesday for Kirk's murder.

In his opening statements today, at the non-jury trial, defense attorney Robert Washburn said Trudy Jo was in a house of prostitution when she met Baker and married him a day later to escape her former way of life.

"Baker utterly dominated her. She had no intention of the crime and no knowledge that it would be committed," Washburn said. Washburn said Trudy Jo informed relatives about the crime and that the relatives notified authorities. He said she was the first to confess.

The prosecution said it would attempt to prove that Trudy Jo was guilty of murder and "drove

Gov't Cuts Margin Requirements For Stocks; See Temporary Lift

NEW YORK — Government application of "a little needle" to the stock market by cutting margin requirements to 50 per cent instead of 70 is likely to give the market only a temporary lift, Wall Street experts said today.

Long-run effects of the action taken late Wednesday by the Federal Reserve Board will depend, the experts said, on what other official moves are made to bolster the generally sagging economy.

The margin cut means that, beginning today, stocks may be bought by putting up only half the price in cash, and borrowing the rest. Since April, 1955, stock buyers had been required to pay at least 70 per cent cash.

The move followed two new government reports of reduced economic activity at the end of 1957 and President Eisenhower's declaration that the economy needs "a little needle" rather than a check rein.

Produce Stronger Prices

The Reserve Board decision represented another retreat from Washington's "tight money" policy. But its effect was not expected to be as widespread as the recent Federal Reserve cut in the discount rate—the amount it charges member banks for borrowing.

the car while Baker shot Kirk and then helped search his body."

The handcuffed Baker was in court with his wife at her request. Trudy Jo's mother, Mrs. Fern Saunders, Detroit, Mich., also is attending the trial.

Trudy Jo was on the verge of tears several times during the opening statements.

Her case is being heard by circuit Judge Daniel Dailey who sentenced her husband.

Baker pleaded guilty last week. The state had asked the death penalty.

In sentencing Baker, Dailey termed the slaying "an atrocious crime." Baker showed no emotion when the sentence was proclaimed. He will be eligible for parole in 33 years.

Tension Growing In Nassau Strike

NASSAU, Bahamas — The atmosphere in Nassau is like the lull in the eye of a hurricane.

The city is quiet but tension is growing. Strikers and businessmen are awaiting the next development in the paralyzing general strike and word from the governor, Sir Raynor Arthur.

There were scattered fistfights Wednesday but no major acts of violence. Labor leaders appealed to strikers to remain calm, and avoid rioting and "we will win in the end."

The only hotel with guests was the luxurious Royal Victoria Hotel in the center of the city. It was being used as a barracks for British troops flown in to preserve order.

Proposals Seek To Take Gov't Out Of Agriculture

President Asks Elimination of Corn Acreage Allotments

WASHINGTON (UP) — President Eisenhower recommended to Congress today a farm program designed to take the government increasingly out of agriculture and put the farmer more on his own.

His proposal called for lower price supports on major crops and dairy products, and for increased authority to set acreage allotments for cotton, wheat, rice, peanuts, and tobacco.

It also asked for elimination of acreage allotments for corn, the Midwest's big cash crop.

The president told Congress in a special message that the present farm program is "unrealistic" and outmoded.

It is imperative, he said, that Congress draft new policies geared to "the technological revolution in agriculture."

Modify Price Supports

The President's 14-point program, if adopted, would reduce the government's role in agriculture, a step recommended by Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson, and give farmers more freedom to produce.

It would make farmers more dependent on the open market and less dependent on government payments for their income.

The President said few of the dollars spent on agricultural programs have been of appreciable help to the small farmer.

"Price supports have scant meaning to a farmer with little to sell," he said.

"Basic agricultural legislation now on the books was originally devised as an emergency effort to cope with a depression, then changed to help fight a war, and subsequently revised again in an effort to meet the needs of peace," Eisenhower said. "It has not been adequately modified to deal with the effects of the technological revolution in agriculture."

"This must be done now."

Senate to Act On Pay Hike Bill

WASHINGTON — The Senate is expected to act next week on a proposed average 7 1/2 per cent pay boost for 1,500,000 postal and federal Civil Service workers.

The Senate Civil Service Committee, anticipating a presidential request for a pay raise of at least 6 per cent, approved the two measures Wednesday within hours after they were okayed by a subcommittee and the Democratic Policy Committee.

Committee Chairman Olin D. Johnston (D-S.C.) said he expected the bills to come up on the Senate floor sometime next week.

Besides the across-the-board pay increase, the legislation would provide a three-year annual cost-of-living bonus of $240 for postal workers in the five lowest grades, $160 in the sixth grade and $180 in the seventh. Both the pay boost and the bonus would be retroactive to last Oct. 1.

Subcommittee Chairman Richard L. Neuberger (D-Ore.) estimated the two bills would cost the government an extra $80 million dollars a year for the next three years, but less after that.

Johnston said he hoped the Senate would consider the pay bill separately from administration proposals for increasing postal rates.

Aid to Education

Editorial — BY BRUCE BLOSSAT

The year 1958 will not see a tire some re-run of the old battles over federal aid to education. The Eisenhower administration this time has spread the nation's educational problems across a much wider canvas.

Russia's leap into science leadership is responsible. It shocked us into sudden awareness of our shortcomings in this field. Educators, of course, will not be satisfied with the President's 1-billion dollar program (which calls also for 600 million from the states). Seldom does a budget allotment wholly please those most directly involved.

But the program is a frank recognition that our problem is dead-end serious, and an evidence of the administration's determination to do something substantial about it—even if not all that the critics would like.

The proposal to provide money for some 10,000 scholarships is intended to strike at one of our most pressing dilemmas, the failure of thousands of well qualified youngsters to go on to college or to complete such training. Lack of funds appears to be the prime reason.

The suggested bigger appropriation for the National Science Foundation also would seem very much in order. This organization already has proved its worth. And no one needs to be told that we must take all avenues that may lead reasonably to an improvement in our science training.

Some of the program's critics want a more lavish outlay, and consequently assail the administration's effort to shape a plan they believe is governed by insistence on a balanced budget.

The exact size of the wisest possible program is naturally always a debatable matter. But it is a fact that no administration can totally ignore the relationship between one specific set of proposals and its various other programs, or between that plan and the full budget.

This is true even in the emergency of war, when competing demands, all of them reflecting vital purposes, crowd in upon one another.

The President's new educational program is therefore a compromise. In that there is no surprise. What we must all hope is that it is a good compromise. The price of a bad one could be heavy.

The WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

by DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says: American Taxpayers May Have To Put Up $100,000,000 To Pay For German War-Seized Property: State Department Puts German Property Ahead Of Japan And Italy; Sen. Johnston, A Friend Of German Lobbyists, Balks.

WASHINGTON. — Looking both ways to make sure no reporters saw him, Doug Dillon, the State Department's able economic chief, ducked into the office of Sen. Olin Johnston of South Carolina to discuss plans for paying off Naz industrialists whose property was seized during World War II.

Dillon was accompanied by Jacques Reinstein, director of German Affairs, and J. P. White, a State Department lobbyist, who carried brief cases and also glanced around furtively. Waiting inside were the sad-eyed senator from South Carolina and his assistant, Harlan Wood.

The State Department trio outlined a plan to have American taxpayers dig into their pockets for an extra $100,000,000 to settle German claims. This would double-cross the Japanese, who have Secretary of State Dulles' solemn word that German and Japanese claims would be treated alike.

The manner in which the State Department has been pushing the return of German property, and the background of the State Department personnel handling it are significant.

No. 1 man in the State Department, John Foster Dulles, was attorney for the Wall Street bankers who pour millions of American investors' money into Germany even as Hitler was coming into power. Mr. Dulles made repeated statements assuring American investors that their money was safe.

No. 3 man in the State Department now pushing for the return of German property, Douglas Dillon, was a member of the banking firm of Dillon, Read & Co., which poured about $200,000,000 of American investors' money into Germany. Shortly after V-E Day the head of Dillon, Read—Gen. William H. Draper, then in the Army—became head of German industrial reconstruction and appointed to his personal staff Dr. Alexander Kreuter, a former Nazi and former Dillon, Read representative in Germany.

It has been the consistent policy of many of these bankers to bring about the return of German property, and some of them have been in strategic positions to help do it.

JOHNSTON BALKS
The proposal for rewarding German property owners at the expense of American taxpayers which Ambassador Dillon outlined to Senator Johnston was too much even for Johnston. The South Carolina senator has been most sympathetic to German lobbyists, but even he rebelled at taking money from American taxpayers to reimburse the Germans.

Half apologetically, Dillon explained that "the decision to request a direct appropriation was made at cabinet level."

Wood suggested that former

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY
I am the vine and ye are the branches . . . without me ye can do nothing. John 15:5.

Christian lives are notably fruitful. Christ performed humble services as well as many mighty works. We should wait for some sensational deed of devotion.

Attorney General Herb Brownell, who opposed paying indemnity to our former enemies, probably suggested the direct appropriation as an "obstructive tactic" to keep Congress from passing any legislation at all.

Wood also objected to making any payments to the German government which, he said, "could defeat every reasonable argument that has been advanced justifying a return."

Both the senator and his assistant stressed that the assets were seized from private owners and should be returned to them. This issue seemed to arouse Johnston's emotions almost as much as federal troops in Little Rock, Ark.

"The press has led the public to believe," he thundered, "that the properties under seizure belonged to the Hitler or Tojo governments. Many of the private companies no doubt invested here to escape Hitler's wrath."

The indignant senator didn't mention that the biggest claimants are German munitions makers who financed Hitler and later manufactured arms for him.

Dillon assured Johnston that payments would not be made "to the German government, as such but in cooperation with and acting upon advice from the German government."

Johnston also angrily warned against permitting the Office of Alien Property to have anything to do with the payment program.

"The employees of that agency from the highest to the lowest are opposed to a return and shouldn't be trusted with authority to make returns," he snorted. He complained that the Alien Property Office "required 39 years to close out World War I vestings."

In the end, Johnston and Dillon turned over to their assistants the task of ironing out details. They agreed to proceed as quietly as possible, so their plan to pay off the German munitions makers won't run into interference "from interested individuals or the press."

TEAMSTERS VS. CLERKS
Reason why the full weight of the AFL-CIO was put behind the Retail Clerks in their battle against the giant Montgomery Ward mail-order house was simple. The Teamsters and Jimmy Hoffa lurk in the background.

Montgomery Ward has refused to bargain across the board with the Retail Clerks, one of the cleanest unions in the business while at the same time giving a hard-and-fast contract to the Teamsters, one of the most racket-ridden unions in the business.

For years Montgomery Ward has been notoriously anti-union. Its president, aged Sewell Avery was once carried out of his office by U. S. troops when the Army took over during a wartime strike in which he refused to bargain.

But when the big mail-order firm got in a proxy fight with the far-flung Wolfson interests, the Teamsters purchased $1,000,000 worth of Montgomery Ward stock, and immediately got a union contract.

While working closely with the Teamsters, however, Montgomery Ward now refuses to negotiate across the board with the Retail Clerks. That's why the AFL-CIO voted a boycott.

Only a Month For Motorists to Get '58 Licenses

SPRINGFIELD, Ill.—With only about a month remaining before the deadline for displaying 1958 motor vehicle license plates, Secretary of State Charles F. Carpenter reported today that a little less than two-thirds of the expected registration have yet to be received by his office.

Registrations are still running ahead of last year at the same time, he said. The 1,473,000 applications processed through last week were about 100,000 more than had been received at the same time in 1957, Secretary Carpenter said.

Applications submitted by mail should be in the office by February 1, Mr. Carpenter emphasized, in order for motorists to be sure of having their plates in time for the February 16 deadline for displaying them.

The Automobile Division is equipped to handle a considerably heavier flow of applications than it is receiving at present, Secretary Carpenter said. He urged motorists to submit their applications without further delay and thereby eliminate any possibility of failing to meet the deadline.

Persons planning to purchase their plates over the counter in Chicago or Springfield may do so at present with only a short wait in line, Secretary Carpenter said.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The White House has rejected a congress man's suggestion that it recall Army missile expert Col. John C. Nickerson from "exile" in Panama to help this country in the international missile race. Rep. John C. In Memoriam
In loving memory of Mrs. Amanda Shaw, who died Jan. 15, 1957. At twilight when eventide draws near,

Thoughts of you come drifting back,
Within our dreams to stay.

Income Tax Time, Most Unwelcome Season of Year for Taxpayer

WASHINGTON (AP) — America's most unwelcome season of the year arrived today — the income tax season.

From now until mid-April 62 million individuals and corporations will be busy reading the fine print of the tax rules and scribbling with pencils — and erasers.

Most taxpayers have the full three months until April 15 to decide whether they owe the government or vice versa. But quite a few, especially farmers and people in business for themselves, must send forms and checks to the government sooner.

Here is a tax timetable to let you know just where you stand:

Jan. 15—Persons who pay their tax on a quarterly basis—mainly the self-employed and those with salaries above $10,000 — may pay the fourth installment of their estimated 1957 tax. Then they can wait until April 15 to file a final return. Or, they may delay their installment until Jan. 31, then file a final return that day and pay their taxes in full.

Feb. 17 — Farmers who did not send in a declaration by Jan. 15 file a final return for 1957 and pay tax in full.

April 15—Deadline for filing final 1957 return for both wage and salary workers and the self-employed. First quarterly payment on estimated 1958 income also due. Farmers who filed a declaration in January submit a final return and pay any balance due.

The government urges everyone who can, to get his final return in before April 15 deadline. This is especially important to people who expect refunds. The earlier they file the faster they will get that green check with the little holes in it.

If your employer has already given you a W-2 form — a statement of earnings last year — you can send it and your return in today. If he doesn't give it to you by Jan. 31 and it looks as if he isn't going to, the Internal Revenue Service recommends you contact its nearest branch office for assistance.

Nation's Worst Enemy Is Ignorance, Lecturing Editor Says at SIU

CARONDALE, Ill. (AP) — James S. Pope, executive editor of the Louisville, Ky., Courier-Journal, today charged a "confused little hierarchy of bureaucrats" is keeping America ignorant of the dangers of the Sputnik age.

America's worst enemy still is ignorance, not Russians, Pope said. He gave the Elijah P. Lovejoy lecture at Southern Illinois University.

"We didn't even know, until a Soviet satellite wrote the fact so high that official Washington could not censor it, that we needed to get busy," the former president of the American Society of Newspaper Editors said.

"Until the people got aroused was moving in a frightening course toward the status of a second-rate power," Pope said. He blamed "the cult of official secrecy" for "blind and virulent" concealment of facts.

"Missiles will not solve this nation's problems if they are in the hands of a confused little hierarchy of bureaucrats in Washington," the Kentucky journalist said.

Lovejoy was a pre-Civil War Editor who was killed by a mob

Warns of Improperly Prepared Talks

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State John Foster Dulles said today the United States wants a summit meeting with Russia, but only on condition it would not "intensify the cold war and make more likely that it would turn into a hot war."

In a major foreign policy address, Dulles warned that an improperly prepared East-West meeting could result in a "fatal disaster" if people believe that tensions can be removed "by a stroke of a pen at the 'summit'." Such a belief, he said, would be "folly."

Before there is any summit meeting, Dulles said there should be assurance "that there is a good prospect of arriving at significant agreements which will be fulfilled."

The body will lie in state in the Van Natta funeral home in Goreville today and the funeral will be held at 11 a. m. Friday in the Goreville Methodist church. Rev. William Lyrie will officiate and burial will be in the Pleasant Ridge cemetery at Delwood.

Mrs. Randolph is survived by her three children as follows: Walter R. Randolph, LaSalle, Ill.; Mrs. Davis Shinn and Mrs. Lucille McNabb, both of Manteno.

10 Outstanding Young Men Named by J.C.s

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — America's 10 outstanding young men for 1957 were announced today by the U. S. Junior Chamber of Commerce, whose choice include a salute to the fast-dawning space age.

The 10 young men selected by a judging panel of nationally prominent persons were:

—Dr. Thomas G. Baffes, 34, Skokie, Ill., surgeon, developer of a surgical correction for transposition of the great vessels of the heart.

—Wilbert E. Chope, 34, Columbus, Ohio, president and founder of the Industrial Nucleonics Corp.

—Sen. Frank F. Church, 33, Boise, Idaho, the youngest member of the U. S. Senate.

Postmen Take Action Against Dog Owners

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's mailmen struck a mighty blow today against their sometimes foe — the dog.

The Post Office Department announced a streamlined one-two program of massive resistance against the owners of dogs whose favorite dish is mailman-on-the-hoof. If you possess such a beast:

—First, you get a letter from your local postmaster informing you in a friendly way your dog is under the impression your mailman is a hors d'oeuvre. The letter will make useful suggestions.

—Next, if the mailman's arrival is still the big moment in your dog's feeding schedule, you get a letter saying from now on your mail may be picked up at the post office.

A Post Office spokesman said the tone of the first letter will be polite and helpful. The second will be somewhat cooler.

He said the department is sending postmasters some sample letters, but they may use their discretion about what to say to meet "local circumstances."

Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield said the department decided on its new program only "after months of study of this dog-bite problem and continued annoyance to our carriers by some dogs."

President Confident He Is Up to Tensions of Remainder of Term

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower has come through the worst of his early winter chores and the tensions of his three remaining years in the White House.

He would like, however, to get away from the bleak, damp chill of Washington for a few days of sun and golf. He was expected to do this at the first opportunity and not later than some time early next month.

The Chief Executive's three top-priority messages to Congress have been completed. The State of the Union message and the budget have gone to Congress. His annual economic message is finished and will go to the House and Senate Monday.

A major farm message was to be dispatched to Capital Hill today.

Thus the most time-consuming tasks ahead of the President for the immediate future involved the six state dinners of the 1958 White House social season which begin tonight with the vice president and cabinet as honor guests and will continue through Feb. 11.

Eisenhower was on close-at-hand display before an audience of 270 reporters Wednesday at his first news conference since last Oct. 30 and the first since his Nov. 25 mild stroke.

In this meeting he made it plain he has given no thought to resigning because of his past medical record and intends to continue the conduct of the presidency until his term expires Jan. 20, 1961.

"I feel very well indeed," he told the reporters, "but . . . no one can tell what the physical future is."

"I am optimistic enough to say this—that as long as I am able, I am going to carry on just exactly as I have in the past, and with no thought of it. From there on, it is in the lap of the gods and that's that."

With reporters peering closely at every move of his hands, every slightest change of facial expression and listening as human stethoscopes to every tone and inflection of his voice, the President brushed aside suggestions from some quarters that he resign because of his health.

He said he had not considered resignation in connection with his November illness because the doctors told him he had suffered no damage "to whatever intellectual facilities I have."

"Any time that I believe or any group of doctors—eminent doctors—would say that I am not really up to doing my job, then I would personally, feeling as I do . . . I would have no recourse except to resign."

State to Build Fish Hatchery at Little Grassy

SPRINGFIELD — The state Conservation Department will construct a new fish hatchery on a 110-acre tract south of Little Grassy Lake in Williamson County.

Construction of the hatchery should be completed in the spring and it will begin producing and rearing more than 100,000 bass and 100,000 bluegills annually. The hatchery also will produce some sunfish.

Sam Parr, chief of the department's fisheries division, said development of the hatchery had been held up pending authorization by the federal government for use of water from Little Grassy Lake for the installation. The hatchery was first authorized by the Legislature in 1955.

An "ideal" location. However, Parr said federal approval now has been granted and plans for the hatchery have been completed.

A total of $245,000 has been appropriated for the hatchery. About $17,000 of this has been spent mostly for purchase of the land. Parr said the location is considered "ideal" for the hatchery, with the slope of the land available for gravity feed of water from the lake and natural drainage of the hatchery ponds.

The 10 ponds to be built for the hatchery will cover two acres, and will be eight feet deep. They will be of earth construction, with shallow concrete tanks at the bottom of each pond for cleaning purposes.

The 110 acres of land purchased for the hatchery will be large enough to permit doubling its size in future years if that becomes necessary, Parr said.

To sell Rockford Hatchery. He said the new hatchery, when in full operation, will boost the output of Illinois-produced fish for stocking purposes to more than two million annually. Existing hatcheries are located at Rockford, Spring Grove, Carlyle, Mattoon and Geneseo.

Some of these older hatcheries will be disposed of when the new southern Illinois unit goes into operation. Parr said the Rockford hatchery definitely will be sold as soon as possible after the new hatchery goes into operation.

Location of the new hatchery in southern Illinois was required because of the very great demand for fish to stock new ponds being constructed in that part of the state. New farm and conservation ponds are being constructed at the rate of nearly 1,000 a year.

The Conservation Department provides pond and lake owners stock fish without charge if they agree to a "reasonable" amount of public fishing in their private waters.

No Definite Answer by ASC On Question of Bid for Retiring Farms in Soil Bank

What income is necessary, if personal retirement is anticipated, and what opportunities are there for gainful employment in the community.

Edgar V. Thompson, chairman of the County ASC committee, says this is the first time farmers have been asked to tell the Department of Agriculture what they will take to retire entire farms and he expects a wide difference between the lowest and the highest bid in Salin county. Some farmers may consider a low interest on their investment as adequate while others will need high interest. Other cost factors which will be accepted can not be determined until after all offers have been reviewed early in February. The State ASC committee urges all bidders to carefully consider every possible factor which may enter into the long time retirement of an "entire" farm. Most expense items such as taxes, interest on investment, upkeep of improvements, and cost of controlling weeds are not difficult to estimate. Farmers also know what their net income has been in recent years and what cash rent they could expect from another farmer.

It was pointed out, however, that some of the more difficult questions for each person to answer are: What changes in farm prices may occur during the contract period? What weather hazards can be expected? What changes will there be in production?

Office Manager Gholson says the local ASC office cannot answer the questions "What shall I bid?" but he hopes all who are interested will make a careful study of the program and how it may be applied to his farm. He insists that no one should make an offer unless he honestly wants to retire his farm and will be prepared to abide with his bid, even though his neighbors bid may be accepted at a different rate. Forms for placing bids and other detailed information may be obtained at the local ASC office, and "bids" must be returned to the county office not later than January 31, 1958.

Forms for placing bids and other detailed information may be obtained at the local ASC office, and "bids" must be returned to the county office not later than January 31, 1958.

Office Manager Gholson says the local ASC office cannot answer the questions "What shall I bid?" but he hopes all who are interested will make a careful study of the program and how it may be applied

HOLLYWOOD TODAY!
MOVIES - TV - RADIO
by Erskine Johnson

HOLLYWOOD — (NEA) — On stage, Offstage and Upstage: Ed Wynn is still shedding tears of gratitude over his career switch from washed-up "Perfect Fool" to sensitive purveyor of heavy emotion. Playing another big character role as Natalie Wood's "Uncle Samson" in "Marjorie Morningstar" at Warner Bros., Ed, who will be 71 next month, had to dab at his eyes with a handkerchief as he told me:

"I still can't believe what has happened. Why, a couple of years ago the apartment house porter where I live didn't even knock on my door."

Now the whole show business world is knocking—for movies, for a TV series and more guest star appearances on TV.

But, he's laughing, there's one fellow who hasn't heard about Ed Wynn's new career. He's an elderly chap at the Synagogue for the Aged in Los Angeles, where the "Morningstar" company went for location scenes. Director Irving Rapper has been calling Ed "Uncle Samson" on the set and finally Ed was tapped on the shoulder by the elderly fellow, who asked:

"What role do you play, Uncle Samson?"

The clown in Ed had to come out and it did as he replied, "I'm playing Ed Wynn." "Ah, yes," murmured the old fellow, with a knowledgeable look.

THIS IS HOLLYWOOD, Mrs. Jones: Movie-makers skipped unlucky 13 when numbering studio sound stages, but I guess TV doesn't care. Since telefilming took over the Republic lot, the new sound stage there is No. 13!

THE WITNET: It's Stan Freberg's movie title suggestion, "I Was a Teen-Age Adult."

"I think I've proved I'm more than just a stupid, dumb little blonde."

Mamie Van Doren was looking back at her career trail since leaving U.I., where she was mostly a miss-uncover girl for publicity photographers. Look back with her and you'll agree, like I did, that she's right. She has starred in two films, "Untamed Youth" and "Teacher's Pet," with Clark Gable, and now she's headed for two more, "Born Reckless" at Warner Bros. and "A Star Takes a Holiday" in Italy with Vittorio de Sica.

"TEACHER'S PET" hasn't yet been released but it's THE movie in her future. She shrugged off reports of marital discord with Ray Anthony to me by saying, "Sure, we argue now and then—don't all married couples argue?" But all married couples aren't as broadminded as Mamie and Ray

She has a charm bracelet that still jingles and jangles with charms given her by premarriage boy friends—and Ray still carries a watch Mamie says "his last wife gave him."

Jack Palance, who may need the money for his domestic woes, is writing a screenplay, "Big John." It's about his late father, a colorful Pennsylvania coal miner.

Marilyn Maxwell, named Sweet heart of the Armed Forces, was introduced as "Monroe" at the luncheon presentation. She responded by flipping:

"Okay, as long as you don't introduce me as ELSA Maxwell."

WIESBADEN, Germany (AP)—Seven U.S. airmen were killed in aircraft crashes in Europe and North Africa last year, Air Force officials reported Tuesday. They said 38 of the victims were pilots and 37 were crewmen. Seventy-eight aircraft were destroyed.

HAND-PICKED for MURDER

XXXIII

Hugo Howell was 10 feet away staring down at me. He held a revolver pointed at my chest. His little red-rimmed eyes never left my face, and the gun didn't waver. His beefy body swayed a little, but he held the gun steady, as if his arm and the hand which held it were connected to his body on a swivel ball bearing.

I dropped my gun.

"Fooled you," Howell said. "Sneaked around—I know a path. Used to come here a lot. I could have shot you just now, killed you dead, but—" He waved the bottle—"I dunno. Shooting you in the back like that—it didn't seem right. If I'd got you with the first shot, when you was standing by the tree, it wouldn't have been so bad. You was just standing there, expecting nothing, and if you had n't moved when you did it would have been—blooie. Quick and easy—like Ambrose and that woman."

I said, "Killing me won't do you any good."

"You was on to me. I figured you was, and that's why I followed you out here. Ain't that right?"

I nodded and stood slowly erect, being careful not to make any sudden moves or to get closer to him. "I saw where you rigged the gun on the tree," I said. "You fooled me, all right. I was sure somebody had taken a shot at you—maybe the killer of Ambrose Lott. But you staged it, didn't you, to throw me off the track?"

He nodded gloomily. Then he fished in a pocket of his trousers and extended his hand so that I could see what he held. "There she is," he said, "the assembly. I took it out of the tree last night."

I could see two curved metal brackets, four small screws, four screw-tipped metal rings—the kind commonly used to anchor a screen door hook—and a balled length of fine green fish line. Howell tossed the items over his shoulder and said seriously, "The hardest part was setting the gun at the right angle. Had to fire a few practice shots yesterday morning when I was rigging it—when you thought I was in my room." He gave me his sly grin. "Pretty cute, wasn't it? I sneaked out of the hotel, got the stuff from a hardware store—a bracket for the barrel, one across the butt, two screws for each bracket to clamp the gun to the tree, an eye screwed into the tree back of the butt—that's where I got the leverage to pull the trigger—and three eyes to thread the line down the trunk to the ground. Then I ran the line through the weeds to the rock I was going to sit on—and I was careful where I sat, I tell you—and put the end of the line in a crack beside the rock. When you wasn't looking, all I had to do was jerk the line and—wham!—you thought somebody was taking a shot at me." He laughed gleefully.

"Very clever," I said. "I suppose that little pine tree was in the way and you pulled it over?"

"That's right. I figured it all out. Made a clear track, sighted the gun just right. I'm a machine, I—"

"Why didn't you just shoot me yesterday and get it over with?"

"I thought of that," he said seriously, "but you wasn't wise yet, and if I'd wanted to get rid of you then I could have done it another way, easy."

"With an ice pick?"

"Maybe," he said absently, as if he were only half listening. "I think I'll dig a hole back in the woods a ways back from the road. Then I'll take Wayne back to Detroit with me."

"Wayne may be charged with murder."

He moved his head slowly from side to side. "Oh, no, he won't—not with you out of the picture. They can't prove anything now."

I was still alive, so I kept talking. "Have you forgotten about Chief of Police Campbell? He knows that you were not in jail all night, and he might begin adding two and two."

"He might," Howell admitted, "but he won't do anything about it. He's in as deep as I am. I paid him to let me out of jail that first night, a hundred bucks. Campbell won't dare talk.

"You wouldn't have had to kill her," I said. "Her marriage to Wayne wasn't legal."

He looked at me reproachfully. "I know it now. You should have told me yesterday."

"I wanted to talk to her first, and you were in jail last night, drunk."

He sighed heavily. "Water over the dam now. When I heard she and Wayne was leaving today, I had to work fast. I knew she was alone at the cottage last night—the chief's daughter told us, remember? He paused and shivered slightly. "I never thought I could do a thing like that. But it's funny—after Ambrose, it wasn't so bad. And I had nothing to lose—they can only burn you once."

He frowned and his eyes grew ugly. "But Ambrose asked for it. I tried to do the right thing by him, paid him regular every month since I sold the shop, but he kept wanting more and more. All I had left was Wayne's trust money, and that woman was after that. They was all after me, like a pack of hounds."

I took a slow step toward him. He backed up quickly. The gun steadied and he muttered, "You want it now?"

I tried to grin at him. "You're upset. Maybe we can make a deal." But even as I spoke I knew that my words were like a baby's wail in the wilderness.

News from the State Capitol

Vegetable growers had another good year in 1957 with leading commercial vegetable crops valued at nearly $20 million, the Illinois Department of Agriculture said. Snap beans and onions were the only fresh market crops which failed to measure up to last year. All others, strawberries, cabbage, sweet corn, cucumbers, carrots, tomatoes, watermelons and cantaloupes exceeded their 1956 values.

Illinois ranks third in the nation in production of sweet corn for processing and fifth in green peas for processing. The state ranks fifth in the asparagus market, sixth in production of tomatoes for processing and ninth in sweet corn for fresh market.

The number of wells drilled for oil and gas in 1957 was 1,055 less than the 3,640 drilled in 1956, according to the Illinois Geological Survey's December drilling report. One new pool, Watson in Effingham county, was discovered in Illinois in December. Production for 1957 was approximately 77,273,000 barrels, or 5,041,000 barrels less than in 1956.

Of the 2,585 wells drilled in '57, 791 were wildcats. These discovered 16 new pools and 51 extensions to pools. Chesterville East in Douglas county was by far the largest.

White county had the largest number of wells completed in 1957. Wayne county ranked second, Crawford and Hamilton counties tied for third, with Lawrence following closely in fourth.

Jimmy Foxx, with Baseball Earnings Of Over $250,000, Is Now Broke

MIAMI —Jimmy Foxx, one of baseball's all-time greats, probably earned over $250,000 in his colorful diamond career. But he'd be penniless today except for a surprise gift of $400.

"Until that check I didn't have a dime," the 50-year-old Foxx said Wednesday night in his South Miami home. "Now I can hold my head up . . . a little."

The check came from Jimmy Silan of Boston, Foxx's personal manager of bygone years, who heard of the former slugger's plight from the Boston chapter of the Baseball Writers Assn. The writers had been trying to find him to invite him to their annual dinner Jan. 22.

"I don't feel badly for myself," the former Philadelphia Athletic and Boston Red Sox star said. "The money I lost—and blew—was my own fault, 99 per cent of it. But I'd like to give the children something . . ."

Foxx lives with his three children, John, 18, Nanci, 16, and Jim, 13. He and his wife are separated. John, who works for Eastern Airlines, has provided the family its only income for the past six months.

During his heyday, Foxx was chosen as the American League's most valuable player three times. He hit 534 home runs in his 20-year career, second only to Babe Ruth's 714, and his overall batting average was a sturdy .325.

He estimated that he earned more than $250,000. "Then I was something," he said. "Now I'm here, broke, five months behind in my rent, allowed to stay only because my landlord was good enough to give me 10 more days of grace."

Ridgway vs. Rosiclare, Galatia vs. Cave-In-Rock in Semifinals Tonight

Equality Eliminated, 57-51, by Rosiclare In Play at Ridgway

Rosiclare won its way into the semifinals of the Greater Egyptian conference tournament with a 57-51 victory over Equality Wednesday evening.

The Rosiclare win completed first round play and set up the semifinals for tonight. The first semifinal game has Ridgway vs. Rosiclare, followed by Galatia vs. Cave-in-Rock. This year's semifinal games are identical with final nights pairings of a year ago. In the 1957 meet Galatia edged Cave-in-Rock 56-45 for consolation honors and Rosiclare took the big trophy with a 59-49 decision over Ridgway.

Equality, two-time loser to Rosiclare this season, made a great bid for revenge Wednesday and led by seven points—31-24—at halftime. But Rosiclare came back and made it three in a row for the season over Equality.

Only last Friday Equality lost a 5-point, 61-56, to Rosiclare with a terrible third quarter proving the downfall of the Gallatin county crew.

In the game a few nights ago Equality came up with a 2-point third quarter. Last night it was a little better but very little. Rosiclare came out after the intermission to take a 12-5 third quarter and pull even at 36-36.

Rosiclare continued to roll in the early part of the fourth frame, pulling away by 8 to 10 points, then it was Equality's time to rally and the gap was closed to a single marker late in the game. But Rosiclare held off the bid and went on to win 57-51. The game was won at the free throw line. Rosiclare had a good night connecting on 21 of 31 tries while Equality made only 13 of 30.

From the field Rosiclare shot an even 400, making 18 field goals in 45 attempts. Equality after hitting a fine 500 in the first half on 11 of 22, fell off to a 373 for the game, hitting 19 of 51 shots.

Bernie Emery of Equality was the game's top scorer with 22 and his teammate Gordon Smith had 10.

Elisha Green paced Rosiclare with 21 markers. Also in double figures were Seay and Croft with 12 each.

Tonight's first game starts at 7, with the nightcap scheduled for 8:30. The tourney is being played in the spacious Ridgway gymnasium where there should be room for everyone, however tournament officials recommend an early arrival.

The consolation and championship games of the meet will be played Friday night.

Bull Dogs Play Marion Here Friday Night, at Herrin Saturday Evening

The Harrisburg Bull Dogs embark on the "repeat" trail this week-end as they start playing South Seven basketball teams they have met in previous cage contests this season.

Coach John Dotson's boys have played every team in the loop now and this week will engage in return performances with Marion and Herrin.

Playing at Marion Dec. 6 the Bull Dogs lost a close 61-57 contest. Friday night the Wildcats will be the foe on the Davenport gymnasium floor.

Here Dec. 13 the locals bowed to Herrin, 72-46, in the only game this year in which the Bull Dogs were definitely outclassed. Coach Dotson will take his team to Herrin Saturday night with the hope that he can get a better game out of his boys than they displayed in the first encounter.

Against Marion here Friday night the Bull Dogs will be facing a tall Wildcat outfit coached by Wendell Starick that features 6-5 Bob Dawe, 6-4 Bob Johnson and 6-2 John Shotton on the front line. There will be plenty of conference play this week-end, with Frankfort travelling to Benton and Mt. Vernon playing at Centralia Friday night, and Centralia at Marion and Benton at Mt. Vernon Saturday night, besides the Harrisburg contests.

Other games Friday night in southern Illinois find Carrier Mills at Sesser, Carbondale at Sparta,

In Shakespeare's time, all women's parts in plays were taken by boys.

Hoosiers Lead Big Ten in Cage Shooting

CHICAGO —Statistics explained today why Indiana and Michigan are tied for the Big Ten basketball lead.

The Hoosiers have the top shooting percentages in the league, 418 from the floor and 758 on free throws, while Michigan has grabbed an average of 52 rebounds a game.

Northwestern has the highest scoring, 80 points per game.

Minnesota's George Kline held first place individual scoring by a narrow margin over Indiana's Archie Dees, the defending scoring champion, with an average of 25.5 points per game to 25 for Dees.

Don Ohl of Illinois was third with a 24.3 average and Dave Gunther of Iowa fourth at 21.7. Others in the top 10 scores were Pete Tillotson, Michigan, 20.8; Whitey Johnson, Minnesota, 20.0; Joe Ruklick, Northwestern, 18.7; Frank Howard, Ohio State, 17.0; and M. C. Burton, Michigan, and Governor Vaughn, Illinois, 16.8.

Burton led in rebounds with 59 compared to 57 for Dees and 51 for Jerry Thompson, Indiana. Iowa's Nolden Gentry, though, had snared 48 rebounds in three games compared to four for the others, and Michigan State's John Green has 34, an average of 17 per game, in two contests.

St. Louis Trips Bradley, 71-70

ST. LOUIS —Bob Ferry scored a free throw after the game had ended Wednesday night to give St. Louis an upset 71-70 win over Bradley and elevate the Billikin's to a tie for the Missouri Valley Conference cage lead.

The loss, Bradley's second in 11 games this season and first in loop play, dropped the Braves in to second place. St. Louis is tied for the league lead with Wichita.

Joe Billy McDade fouled Ferry in the closing seconds of the game and Ferry calmly sank his free throw after the game had ended.

St. Louis rolled to a 41-27 half time margin, but Bradley sliced away at the lead and finally knotted the score at 66-all, then 68-all with a minute left, and 70-all with 24 seconds remaining.

Jack Nimitz paced St. Louis with 23 markers and Shellie McMillon netted 18 for Bradley.

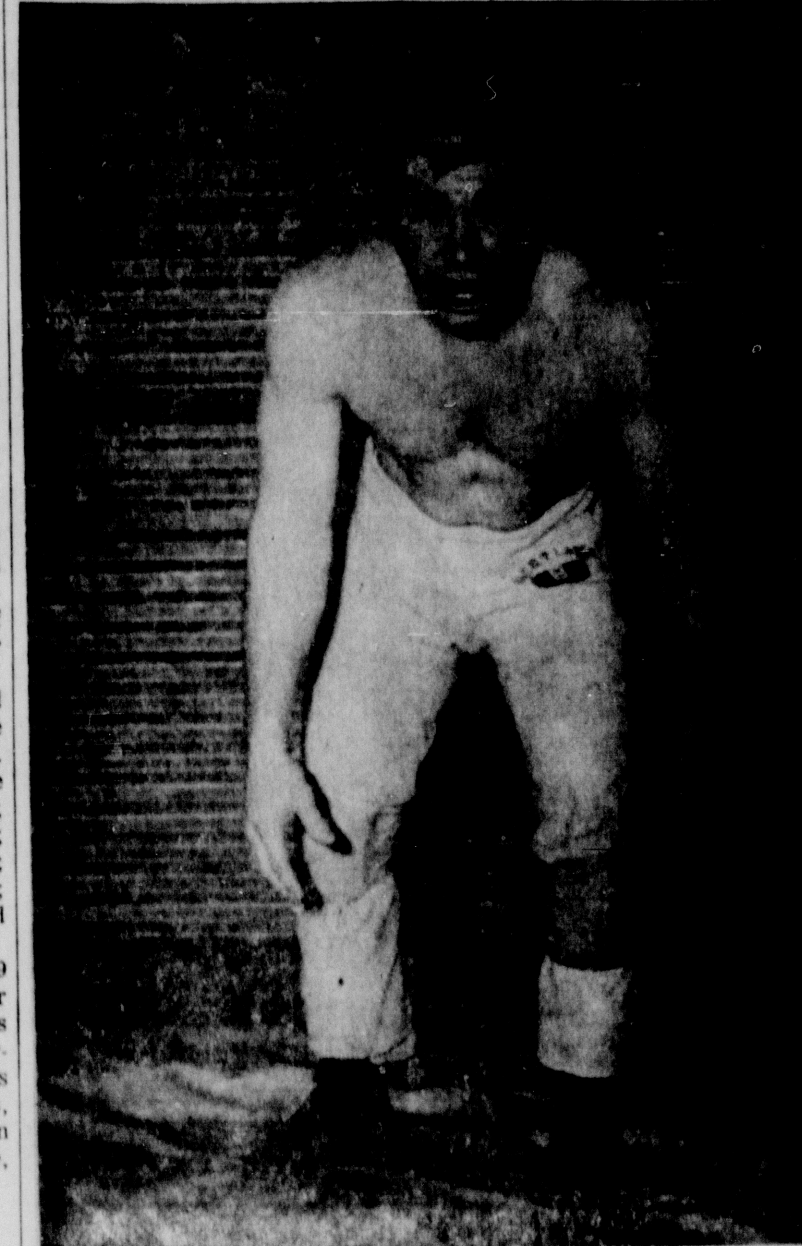

Later that month, last year's wrestling coach, Jim Wilkenson, who said Burdick's improvement probably was the most rapid he had ever seen, entered him in the national NCAA wrestling meet in Pittsburgh, Pa., in the meet which is as high as you can go in collegiate wrestling circles.

After his sudden rise last year, Burdick is back this year and

Omaha Youth, Who Skipped Athletics In High School, Stars in Wrestling at SIU

INTRAMURALS TO STARDOM—Gary Burdick, 21-year-old Southern Illinois University senior rose from intramural wrestling to 191-pound Interstate Conference champion in less than three months, is undefeated this season, winning his first seven matches. Burdick, who did not participate in any high school or college athletics until last year, will face his stiffest test of the season at Carbondale Saturday night, Jan. 18, as he meets another former Conference champion, Illinois Normal's Wally Hess from Blue Island. (SIU Photo Service)

CARBONDALE, Ill.—It doesn't take a high school athlete to star in college. In fact, you can even wait until your junior year to go out for athletics.

At least, that is what Southern Illinois University wrestler Gary Burdick has found.

Burdick, 21 year-old senior from Omaha, did not participate in varsity sports while a student at Norris City high school, and he skipped all athletic activities at SIU his freshman and sophomore years.

In December of his junior year, however, he decided to enter the SIU intramural wrestling meet—and won the 191-pound title. A month later SIU coaches talked him into going out for the varsity wrestling team. Three months later he was handed the Interstate Conference's championship trophy after fighting his way to first place in the 191-pound bracket.

Later that month, last year's wrestling coach, Jim Wilkenson, who said Burdick's improvement probably was the most rapid he had ever seen, entered him in the national NCAA wrestling meet in Pittsburgh, Pa., in the meet which is as high as you can go in collegiate wrestling circles.

After his sudden rise last year, Burdick is back this year and Burdick's coaches, Bob Franz and Roy Fowley, hope that he can again capture the conference championship, but it's tough to do this in the IAC, which has long been known for its wrestling strength. "We'll just have to wait and see," said Burdick, who is planning to graduate in June, a date which probably will end his brief but highly successful athletic career.

Thinking It Over

By Robert L. Dieffenbacher, D.D.
(Written for NEA Service)
The old pump sometimes failed to bring forth water when there was plenty of water in the well.

The parts were dried out. The pump had not been used recently.

The pump had to be primed to create the suction which would bring the water to the surface of the ground.

Time after time our contract with God is so in-frequent that when we do seek God's help, we get no answer. We have failed to live Christian lives and have called on God only when we were in trouble. We then turn away from prayer with the feeling that God is of no help to us.

Actually, we need to prime the pump with some sincerity. We should never expect to use a rusty or dried-out instrument when we want our thirst quenched with the eternal waters of God.

If we pray without ceasing and follow God's guidance we shall never fail to have God flowing into our lives. We shall not find ourselves parched with indifference and sin.
